

H0398

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of making organic memory devices containing organic memory cells made of two electrodes with a controllably conductive media between the two electrodes is disclosed. The organic memory devices are made using a patternable, photosensitive dielectric that facilitates formation of the memory cells and mitigates the necessity of using photoresists.

5